10. Objective of the Activity: The workshop was organized to create awareness among students, research scholars and faculty members regarding Intellectual Property Rights (IPR), patents and the protection and commercialization of innovative ideas. The specific objectives were:

- ❖ To create awareness about Intellectual Property Rights.
- ❖ To explain the importance of protecting innovative and research-based ideas.
- ❖ To provide basic knowledge about the patent filing process.
- ❖ To explain the identification of patentable ideas.
- ❖ To familiarize participants with patent drafting and filing procedures.
- ❖ To introduce the concept of commercialization of intellectual property.
- ❖ To encourage students and researchers to convert innovative ideas into protected intellectual property.
- ❖ To strengthen the culture of research, innovation and entrepreneurship in the institution.

11. Brief Description of the Activity: The Department of Commerce in collaboration with the Institution's Innovation Council (IIC), Janta College, Bakewar, organized an IP Awareness and Patent Filing Workshop on 18/09/ 2026 at the Seminar Hall of the college in hybrid mode. The programme focused on creating awareness regarding Intellectual Property Generation and Commercialization and provided participants with practical information concerning intellectual property and patent filing. The programme began with the welcome of the invited expert and other participants. Shri Gopi Nath Maurya conducted the proceedings of the programme. Dr. Yogesh Shukla, Dean, Faculty of Commerce, delivered the welcome address and presented the outline of the workshop. He highlighted the practical importance of intellectual property rights and patents for students, researchers and faculty members. Prof. (Dr.) Nalini Shukla, Principal, Janta College, Bakewar, addressed the participants and highlighted the legal and practical aspects of Intellectual Property Rights. She emphasized that in the present research and innovation environment, it is essential to protect valuable research outcomes and innovative ideas. She encouraged faculty members, research scholars and students to understand the mechanisms available for protecting their innovations and to explore opportunities for taking useful innovations towards commercialization.

The technical session was delivered by Dr. Abhishek Upadhyay, Assistant Professor, Department of Chemistry, Bappa Sri Narain Vocational Post Graduate College, Lucknow. Dr. Upadhyay provided detailed guidance on Intellectual Property Generation and Patent Filing. He explained the different stages involved in the patent filing process and discussed how innovative and research-based ideas can be assessed for patentability. The expert particularly discussed:

- Intellectual Property Rights and their significance.
- Identification of patentable ideas.
- Basic requirements for patent protection.
- Different stages of the patent filing process.
- Patent drafting.
- Protection of research outcomes.
- Commercialization of intellectual property.
- Importance of innovation and research in generating intellectual property.

The session helped participants understand how an innovative idea can be systematically developed, protected through intellectual property mechanisms and subsequently explored for practical or commercial applications.

Dr. Naveen Awasthi, Convener, Institution's Innovation Council (IIC), explained the objectives and role of IIC in promoting innovation among students and faculty members. He emphasized that awareness of Intellectual Property Rights is an important component of developing an effective institutional innovation ecosystem. He encouraged participants to identify innovative ideas emerging from research and academic activities and to consider appropriate mechanisms for their protection and further development. At the conclusion of the programme, Dr. Naveen Awasthi expressed gratitude to the expert, principal, faculty members, research scholars and students for their participation and contribution to the successful organization of the workshop.

15. Participation: The workshop was conducted in hybrid mode, with participants attending both physically at the Seminar Hall and through the online Google Meet platform. Faculty members, research scholars and students from different departments participated in the programme. The newspaper report specifically mentions the presence of:

- Dr. Ashok Kumar Pandey
- Prof. Lalit Gupta
- Dr. Prakash Dubey
- Dr. Jyoti Bhadauria
- Dr. Indu Bala Mishra
- Dr. Divya Jyoti Mishra
- Shri Shailesh Pratap Singh
- Er. Ajit Agnihotri
- Dr. Anand Singh
- Dr. Sanjeev Kumar
- Smt. Meenu Tripathi
- Students

16 Learning Outcomes: The participants gained knowledge about:

1. The meaning and significance of Intellectual Property Rights.
2. The importance of protecting innovative and research-based ideas.
3. Identification of potentially patentable ideas.
4. The basic stages of patent filing.
5. Patent drafting and documentation.
6. Protection of research outcomes.
7. Commercialization of intellectual property.
8. The relationship between research, innovation, patents and entrepreneurship.

17. Impact of the Activity: The workshop strengthened awareness of Intellectual Property Rights and patent filing among students, research scholars and faculty members. The expert interaction provided participants with practical knowledge about converting research and innovative ideas into intellectual property. The programme also encouraged participants to consider patent protection and commercialization as possible pathways for useful research outcomes. The activity thereby contributed to strengthening the institutional environment for research, innovation, intellectual property generation and entrepreneurship.

18 IIC Alignment: The activity directly supported the IIC theme: Intellectual Property (IP) Generation and Commercialization. It contributed to the following IIC objectives:

- Creating awareness about IPR.
- Promoting patent generation.
- Encouraging protection of innovative ideas.
- Supporting commercialization of research outcomes.
- Promoting innovation and entrepreneurship.
- Developing an institutional culture of research and intellectual property creation.

20. Outcome of the Activity: The workshop successfully created awareness about Intellectual Property Rights, patent filing, patentable ideas, patent drafting and commercialization of intellectual property. Participants gained practical understanding of the steps involved in protecting innovative ideas and were encouraged to consider intellectual property protection as an important component of research and innovation. The programme also strengthened interaction between academic research, innovation and entrepreneurship and contributed to the objectives of the Institution's Innovation Council.

21. Conclusion: The IP Awareness and Patent Filing Workshop was a significant IIC initiative aimed at strengthening the intellectual property and innovation ecosystem of Janta College, Bakewar. The expert guidance provided by Dr. Abhishek Upadhyay helped participants understand the practical aspects of patent filing, identification of patentable ideas, patent drafting and commercialization. The active participation of faculty members, research scholars and students made the programme useful for promoting awareness of intellectual property and encouraging the protection of innovative research outcomes.
